The SUBSTANCE of

ALL the DEPOSITIONS

Relating to the

DUEL

BETWEEN

Duke Hamilton & Ld Mohun.

The SUBSTANCE of

ALL the DEPOSITIONS

Relating to the.

DUBL

BETWEEN

Dake Hamilton & L. d Molun.

Su

1

Print in

THE

SUBSTANCE

OF

All the Depositions

Taken at the

CORONERS INQUEST the 17th, 19th, and 21st of November, on the Body of

Duke HAMILTON.

And the 15th, 18th, 20th, and 22d, on the Body of

My Lord MOHUN.

Containing those already Printed.

ANDTHE

Substance of the Depositions

Preceding and Subsequent to the Action.

LONDON:

Printed for A. Baldwin, near the Oxford-Arms in Warwick-Lane. M DCC XII:

Price Three Pence.

501 62

HHT SUBSTANCE TO Ari the Depositions Taken at the CORONERS INQUEST the truly tothe and att of November, on the Body of Dake HAMILTON. MVSEVM BRUAN NICVM Containing the JHT GM Subfance of the Depolitions Preveding and Subsequent to the Acriton. W o d W d Princed for - C Bakinsky, wear the Oxford-Arth in Marguel-Lane, and DCCXIII: a traditional on the

_ J

И

ti

a

b

CR

Sther Ocasieman, and ask difor Concrat summer District Lines

Mackettery; who hampy his Giere ask for him cline immediately out to him

The Substance of ALL the DEPOSITIONS, &c.

while the Dake and Greens White

Horite of French Clarett and thorn

John Sisson, Drawer at the Rose Tavern, bas Sworn, Novemb.) about Five-a-Clock, my Lord Mohun and another Gentleman were there. The Gentleman ask'd Whether Stars and Blue Garters didn't use the House? He answer'd, Tes. Then he ask'd him, Whether Duke Hamilton didn't come there sometimes? The Drawer answer'd, Tes. The Gentleman said he would be here in a short Time, and when he came, he should shew him into another Room. The Duke came soon after with another Gentleman, and ask'd for General Mackartney; who hearing his Grace ask for him, came immediately out to him; and the Duke and he went into a Room together. They bid the Drawer bring a Bottle of French Claret, and they Two drank part of it: General Mackartney return'd to my Lord Moham, and in a Quarter of an Hour the Duke and the other Gentleman, who staid in another Room while the Duke and General Mackartney were together, went away.

P

fa

ka m

M

ed

W

Fe

the

die

3

An

and

On

John James, Drawer at the Globe-Tavern in the Strand, Swore,

That my Lord Mobun's Footman came to befpeak a Dinner, and my Lord Mobun and General Mackartney came by themselves to the Eating of it; and Col. Inf. Churchill, and Sir Robert Rich came afterwards and din'd with them, they drinking no more than a Flask of Claret. General Mackartney went away, and staid about Half an Hour; and when he came again, he call'd my Lord Mobun into another Room, where they staid about a Quarter of an Hour, and then they return'd Mohum and General Markartney going away foon after by themselves.

al k

i i

2 vo eir-

er

m ney

e-

me

ord

by

Col.

me

hey

ret.

haid

ime

110-

t a rn'd

John Chaboner, Waiter at the Bagnio in Long-Acre, Swore, in General Machineric commin Hat my Lord Mahin coming to the Bagnio, he lighted him up Stairs, pull'd off his Stockings and Shoes, and gave him his Morning Gown: Then my Lord Mehun walk'd up and down the Room with his Arms folded, and feem'd to be thoughtful, but was very fober; and faid he would go to Bed. General Mackartney came there about an Hour after; my Lord being a-Bed in the same Room. Mackartney not liking the Fellow that waited on my Lord Mobun, call'd for another, whom he ask'd if he lov'd the French; the Fellow said, No. He bid him call him in the Morning at Six a Clock, which he did; and found him fnoring. them: I hat he, Revolde, was within 30

RICHARD COOK, Waiter at the fame Bagnio, Swore to the same Effect; and that they told him they were to get up up betimes to go out of Town. One of these Two call'd the Hackney Coach.

Richard Hippesley, Duke Hamilton's Porter, Swore,

That General Mackartney coming to Duke Hamilton's, told this Hippesley he was a Gentleman come out of the North, and had some Business with his Grace. The Duke not being at Home, he came again, and spoke with him. The Duke waited upon him back to the Door, and said, Sir, I am your most Humble Servant.

John Reynolds, of Price's Lodge in the Park, Swore,

That hearing of a Quarrel, he and one Nicholson, got Staves and ran to part them: That he, Reynolds, was within 30 or 40 Yearts of Duke Hamilton and my Lord Mohun when they fell. That my Lord Mohun fell into the Dirch upon his Back, and Duke Hamilton fell near him, lean-

of

il-

to fley

the

his

he

The

or,

er-

in ilw

one part

30 my

my

his

im,

an-

leaning over him. That the Two Seconds ran into them; and immediately after them this Fohn Reynolds, who demanded the Seconds Swords, which they gave him, without any Relistance. He then wrested the Duke's Sword out of his Hand; and Nicholson took away my Lord Mohun's, and gave it to Reynolds, who carried the Four Swords some Distance from the Parties ? He return'd and help'd to lift Duke Hamilton up, who still lay on his Face. He got him up, and he walk'd about 30 Yards; they defired him to walk farther, and he faid he could walk no farther. He was ask'd what became of their Swords? And he faid, They had not been out of his Posseffion, from the Time he took them out of the Parties Hands, till the Day they were brought to the Jury.

Joseph Nicholson, Labourer, Swore,

THAT John Reynolds, Drawer at Price's Lodge, came out of the House with Two Sticks, bid him throw by his Wheel-barrow, and take one of them, for he believed there was a Duel! They ran; and about the Distance of One Hundred and Ten Yards, from the Gentlemen, they saw one there throw off his B

Cloak, and He and another draw their Swords; Two other Gentlemen drew their Swords at the same time; the Duke and Lord Mohun (whom he knew afterwards to be so) made violent Passes at each other, and then fell. He was ask'd if the other Two fought; he said, that they stood with their Swords pointed to each other, and mov'd towards each other, but did not see them Fight. As soon as the Lords were down, the Two Gentlemen ran to them, and were about Four Yards before John Reynolds, he being about Four Yards behind John Reynolds, by reason he fell when they first began to run. Reynolds and Nicholson came in, one Second had hold of one Lord's Sword-Hand, and the other Second of the other, each of the Second's Swords being in their Right Hands. The Seconds delivered their Swords to John Reynolds without any Refistance, and desir'd them to break or bend them; they bent General Mackartney's but could not the other, and then laid them by: John Reynolds took the Duke's, and Nicholfon my Lord Mohun's, who faid he was wounded, and would deliver his Sword if the Duke would his; he likewise heard the Duke's Second say, By G--d My Lord Duke's killed; and the other said, By G-d My

neir neir

and

rds

ach

the

ney

ach

but

the

ien

rds

our

he

nen

Send,

ch

eir

eir

le-

end

out

m

nd

he rd

rd rd

-d My

My Lord Mohun's killed; the Former then said, We've made a fine Mornings work on't. Then General Mackartney, as he afterwards appeared to be, took this Nicholson by the Hand and faid to him, Honest Friend bear witness that we endeavoured to part them; and pray remember that I in the Grey Cloaths and Silver Lac'd Hat, tell you fo. When Reynolds had taken up my Lord Duke, Nicholfon and General Mackartney endeavour'd to lift up my Lord Mohun. Nicholfon faid, I believe he's dead : Mackartney answer'd, God forbid; perhaps his Bleeding inwardly may make him fick, turn him on his Side that his Wound may bleed Outwards; which was done: then General Mackartney desir'd he might be turn'd on his Belly, which was also done: Nicholson, my Lord's Footman, and others, help'd my Lord Mohun into the Coach by General Mackartney's Direction. He was ask'd, how he knew they were Duke Hamilton and Lord Mohun? He answer'd; by hearing People say so: He was likewise ask'd, what became of the other Two Gentlemen? He answer'd; he could not tell.

or pai grane M or B 2 acol Tohn My Lord Molum's killed; the Forence-ben

John Pennington, Hackney Coach-

T Hat on Saturday Morning (Novemb. 15.) about Seven-a-Glock he was call'd from Bow-ftreet in Covent-Garden to the Bagnio in Long-Acre, where he took up my Lord Mohun and another Gentleman. My Lord Mohun bid him drive to Kenfington; but when he came near Hide-Park, he order'd him to drive in there: They were stopp'd at the Gate; but telling the Keeper they were going to Price's Lodge, he let them in: My Lord then ask'd the Coachman, if he knew where they could get any thing that was good, it being a Cold Morning, he faid, at the House near the Ring. When they came near the House, they both got out of the Coach, and bid the Coachman get some Burnt-Wine at the House, while they took a little Walk. He went into the House, and told the Drawer he brought Two Gentlemen, who bid him get some Burnt-Wine against they came back; The Drawer said he wou'd not, for very few came thither so soon in the Morning but to fight: The Coachman faid he believ'd they were very civil Gentlemen, but however he'd dog them. A Groom rode up to him and told him, there were Two Gentlemen at his Coach who he suppos'd wanted him; he ran back and found D. Hamilton and another Gentleman there; the Duke ask'd him whom he brought? He answer'd, My Lord Mohum and another Gentleman: He ask'd him which Way they were gone? He shew'd them; and ran to the House, telling the Man, that Duke Hamilton and a Gentleman follow'd my Lord Mohum and t'other Gentleman, and that he fear'd they were going to fight; he desir'd the Man to make all the haste he cou'd, and bring any body he cou'd get with Staves to prevent them, for he fear'd there wou'd be Murder, and he'd run before. He got behind a Tree within 50 Yards of them, from whence he saw the Duke throw off his Cloak, and my Lord Mohun his Coat, and both drew their Swords, making violent Passes at each other; upon which they both fell, (he being then within 30 Yards of them.) He was ask'd whether the two other Gentlemen drew their Swords, and bow far they were from the Lords when they fell, and whethey fought or not? He answer'd, they drew

he

up

ın.

m-

de-

e :

el-

e's

en ey

oe-

he

ne

he

ne

ok

fe,

NO

nt-

W-

ne

to

drew their Swords, but did not fight; and that they were some Yards distant from the Lords when they drew, and continu'd so till they fell: He was ask'd again, If the Seconds fought? he answer'd, They did not, but ran to the Lords when they fell. Two Men, who follow'd him from the House with Staves, were not more than four Yards behind the Seconds; which Two Men with Staves, demanded their Swords, which they readily deliver'd. He being ask'd which of the Lords was uppermost? he said he cou'd not tell; he then ran for his Coach: My Lord Mohun's Footman and the Two Men put my Lord into this Pennington's Coach; My Lord being almost dead, his Second bid him carry him to his Lodgings in Marlbro-fireet; The Coachman ask'd him who must pay him? He said the Footman: The Coachman took him by the Sleeve, and faid, He brought him as well as my Lord, and that he should pay him: Then he gave him half a Crown: He was ask'd if he knew who that Gentleman was? He said 'twas General Mackartney, the Footman having told him so as they were carrying my Lord Mobun to Marlbro'-ftreet.

warb

came there, he bid them drive directly to

John Lesley, Footman to Duke Hamilton, Swore,

nt

d'd

d, en

m ot

s;

ed

li-

he

id

h;

vo

n's

nis

g-

an

uid

m

m ıld

a

ho

ie-

ng

ny

hn

HAT the Duke fent him to Colonel Hamilton's Lodgings, at the Golden Peruke at Charing-Cross, to desire him to get up and dress him, for his Lord wou'd come in his Coach and call him. Being return'd back, he found the Duke was just getting into his Coach; and he got up be-The Duke then went to the Colonel's Lodgings, and went up to him: Soon after they both came down together, got into the Coach, and bid 'em drive to St. James's House; but stopp'd the Coach at the Corner of St. James's Square, where my Lord Portland lives; and the Footman coming down from behind the Coach, my Lord Duke gave him a Bunch of Keys out of his Pocket, and bid him go to fuch a Closet, and bring his Mourning-Sword: Which he did, and gave it into the Coach to Colonel Hamilton; and Colonel Hamilton gave his Sword out, and bid the Footman give it to the Boy behind the Coach. He then order'd the Coach to drive to the upper End of St. James's Street; when he came came there, he bid them drive directly to Kenfington. And when they came into Hide-Park, the Duke went out of the Coach, in the Road that goes to Kenfington, overagainst Price's Lodge, and walk'd over the Grass, and between the Two Ponds. When he went out of his Coach, he charg'd his Coachman, Footman, and Col. Hamilton's Boy, to go and stay at the Corner of the White Pales. The Footman thinking his Grace long, went towards the Place where he fat them down, and there first met General Mackartney, walking towards Kenfington; and immediately after he met Col. Hamilton, and asking him for his Lord, he told him, This was the worst Morning he ever saw, for he fear'd his Lord was mortally Wounded. The Footman ask'd by whom? Col. Hamilton answerd, My Lard Mohun. Then the Colonel ask'd the Footman, Where his Lord's Coach was? he answerd him, Near the White Rails near Kenfington. He desir'd the Footman to walk fast, and flew him to it; accordingly they haften'd to it. He was ask'd how far General Mackartney was before them? the Footman answer'd, That he was in Sight, walking towards Kenfington.

Rice

V

ar

aı

tl

tl

al

A al

10

Machinery, this Deponent took

o

0

h, r-ne en is

1¢

re

e-ol.

he

be

Lly

n?

In.

n,

rd

10.

nd

'nd

ral

ot-

IR-

ce

Rice Williams, Lord Mohun's Footman, Swore,

HAT on Thursday Novemb. 13th. his Lord went to Mr. Orlebar, Master in Chancery's Chambers, where he met Duke Hamilton; he heard them talk ngrily: The Door at which he waited being open he farther heard the Duke, at the reading (as he suppos'd) of Mr. Whitworth's Deposition, say, That the Evidence he had giv'n had neither Truth nor lustice in it; to which his Lord reply'd, He knew Mr. Whitworth to be an Honest Man, and had as much Honour and Fustice in him as His Grace. Then the Door was thut: Soon after the Duke came down, and staid in the Court to make Water; my Lord Mohun came down also, and passed by the Duke without taking any Notice of him. My Lord Supp'd at the Queen's Arms in Pall-Mall, and from thence went home to Bed: He went out about 9 the next Morning to General Mackartney's Lodgings, where he stay'd about half an Hour; Colonel Jo. Churchil lodging in the same House with General Mackartney.

Mackartney, this Deponent took an Opportunity to tell him, he fear'd his Lord and D. Hamilton would quarrel ; upon which the Colonel went up to my Lord Mohun, and told him what his Footman had said: A little while after, my Lord call'd up this Williams, and ask'd him, Why he concern'd himself with his Affairs? faying, there was nothing in it, and that the Report of Juch a thing might do him Harm; then he fent him to the Globe-Tavern to bespeak a Dinner. His Lord and General Mackartney went thither about One a Clock, and foon after, Sir Robert Rich, and Col. 7of. Churchill came, where they din'd all together. His Lord Supp'd at the Queen's-Arms in Pall-Mall with the Duke of Richmond, Sir Robert Rich, Colonel Fof. Churchill, and a Gentleman he did not know. About Twelve a Clock his Lord fent him of an Errand; when he xeturn'd his Lord was gone; he ask'd the Drawer whither he went, but coud'nt learn, fo he went to the Bagnio in St. James's Street, and Two other Places to feek him, but not finding him, he went Home. In the Morning about Seven a Clock going into Pickadilly, he faw Duke Hamilton (and a Gentleman with him) in his own Coach driving towards Hide-Park, honders will have by the Sier which W 12 2 21

Op-

Lord

pon

ord

man

ord

im,

13 ?

that

him

Ta-

and

One

ich,

hey

the uke

onel did his he

the dint

St.

to

ent

na

uke

in

ark,

ich 3.1

which confirm'd him in his belief, that his Lord and Duke Hamilton were going to Fight : He ran up May-Fair, being the nearest way, and endeavour'd to get over the Park-Wall, which he was long a-doing: he went near the Place where the Two Lords with their Seconds were, and faw the Two Lords draw their Swords pufhing at each other with great Violence upon which they both immediately fell he then ran in and found his Lord almost dead; a Hackney Coachman that was there told him, that 'twas he who brought his Lord; General Mackartney bid them put him into the Coach, and carry him to his House in Marlborough-Street : which they did.

William Morris, Groom to Major-General Gorge, Swore,

E was on Horseback within Ten Yards of Duke Hamilton and the Lord Mohun, when they drew their Swords, and that he continued so during the Action, being so near that he heard them groan when they fell. The rest of his Evidence is agreeable to that of the others. 27 134711 10 1101 11 1101

Andrew

schich Conferred him a his belie

Andrew Clark, Duke Hamilton's Coachman, Swore,

White Pales, he saw General Mackartney without a Sword walking by him; that he look'd hard at him, with his Arms folded, and a Small Cane hanging upon his Wrist; that he walk'd out at the Park-Gate next Kensington; and soon after came Col. Hamilton, who went into the Duke's Coach, and bid him drive through Kensington to the Gravel-Pits, thence he drove to St. Giles's, and from St. Giles's to the Rose at Holborn-Bridge, where he set him down.

Berrold moll

Read Millsonwhen they dren

FINIS.